

TOWNE ON TRIAL

He Recites Some Filipino Troubles

ROLLS OUT PERIODS

Minnesota Presented With First Opportunity to Display His Forensic Talents, Speaks to Crowded Galleries—Democrats Attentive, Republicans Exchange Smiles—Postal Bill Passes.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The senate turned from the grind of appropriations to listen to a speech which was the character of an oration, by Mr. Towne of Minnesota. Since he entered the senate, a few weeks ago, on the appointment of Governor Lind, the young Minnesotan has had little opportunity to display his talents. As his reputation as an orator had preceded him there was much interest in his speech today, which was in advocacy of his resolution for the cessation of hostilities in the Philippines.

The floor was crowded with senators and members of the house. The galleries, public and private, were crowded to overflowing. The senators on the democratic side gave Mr. Towne marked attention. On the republican side the attention was less notable, although Mr. Hoar and Mr. Hale at first followed the speech closely, at times exchanging smiling comment on some of the utterances. Although restricted by manuscript, he had the subject well in hand and rolled out fine periods with a fervor that sent them echoing through the chamber.

The speech abounded in apostrophes to liberty and patriotism, and a scathing arraignment of the policy by which the Filipinos were being manipulated.

POSTAL BILL PASSED.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The major portion of the day in the house was occupied in the transaction of District of Columbia business. The bill to re-organize the postal service, which has been under consideration at intervals for ten days, was finally passed today. Its friends succeeded in confining the measure strictly to the purpose for which it was framed, a consolidation and revision of existing laws. All attempts to amend it in any vital particular failed.

ARMY REORGANIZATION

Washington, Jan. 28.—Chairman Hull of the house military committee thus sums the essential points of the army reorganization bill.

The artillery corps organization is adopted with a chief of artillery, who will serve on the staff of the general commanding the army. The battery becomes the unit of artillery organization. The strength of the staff corps is left as the two houses provided, except the quartermaster's department, in which a compromise is made, adding two majors and six captains, and providing for twenty-five volunteer quartermasters as long as their services are needed.

In the nurse corps provision is made that the heads should be a graduate of a hospital training school of two years' service.

The senate provision of veterinary surgeons is retained. The pay corps is left as provided by the senate, except that the number of majors is to be twenty instead of nine, as adopted by the senate.

The signal corps is finally fixed to include one colonel, one lieutenant, fourteen first lieutenants with authority to retain five first and five second volunteer lieutenants as required.

ECUADOR'S NEW PRESIDENT.

A Young Man and Engaged to Marry Daughter of Retiring President.

New York, Jan. 28.—A cable dispatch from Guayaquil announces the election of General Leonidas Plaza as president of the republic of Ecuador. General Plaza, who is only forty years old, has had a romantic career. When General Elorza was elected, General Plaza was one of his trusted lieutenants. A misunderstanding arose, however, and Plaza went to Costa Rica, where he has many friends. He was appointed military commander of San Jose. He fell in love with the sister-in-law of President Iglesias and they became engaged. About a year and a half ago President Alfaro invited General Plaza to return to Ecuador, and he did so, breaking the engagement between himself and President Iglesias' sister-in-law. General Plaza was appointed military commander of Guayaquil and made love to a daughter of President Alfaro.

WHAT CUBANS WANT

A Determined Campaign For Reciprocity

The Island's Commercial and Agricultural Interests Reaching Out—A Desire to Control Tariff Arrangements With This Country.

Havana, Jan. 28.—Cuba is entering upon a systematic campaign for reciprocity. It will be a two years' campaign, perhaps longer. It is as full of meaning for the United States as for the island. The movement is gaining surprising headway. It has as its basis organization. Supporting it are the agricultural and commercial interests of the island. Even the political interests are drawn into it.

The progress of this reciprocity campaign has been more rapid than those who started it expected. At the outset its nature might as well be understood in the states. The conditions which give rise to the move are an economic one, and the full force of economic causes is working. The strength thus far shown has been due to the realization on the part of the planters and commercial classes that their only hope is in organization. They may not be as successful as the best sugar producers and the tobacco growers in the United States have been in controlling their interests, yet they are moving along that line.

One phase of this agitation cannot be overlooked in the United States. This is the demand of the Cuban industrial and commercial classes for equality of power in making the tariff arrangements between the two countries.

They are likely to suffer because for ten or twelve months more flour and other breadstuffs, lard, bacon and similar packing house products are admitted into Cuba at the low rates fixed by the military tariff, while sugar and tobacco imported into the United States continue to pay the duty rates. But during this ten or twelve months the agitation to show the inequality of this arrangement is going to be kept up steadily. If the beet growing and tobacco raising interests in the states antagonize the movement, as they are threatening to do, the hope of the Cuban producers is that a domestic share of the subject will be brought home to the American people, and the Mississippi valley, with its breadstuffs and packing house products, and the manufacturers of New England and the east, will combine their influence to see whether the Cuban market is to be kept open on the present advantageous terms.

On the political side will be the agitation for the acceptance of the constitution and the early election of a Cuban congress, which will have power to impose tariffs and make commercial treaties. This is not a very serious side of the subject, and its importance may be exaggerated, yet it cannot be overlooked. The island is weak commercially and politically and cannot fight the United States by means of warring the subject of sentimentality. It is a large element in the make-up of the people, and they would undertake to shut out American products, if they are discriminated against, though this course might do them more damage than it would inflict on the American producers.

It has taken some time for the planters and the tobacco growers and the commercial bodies to get their exalted bearings. In some points they still show confusion, but they are getting at a clear conception of the difference between the legislative and the executive functions in Washington. Their present movement is directed on the line of securing tariff concessions which will place them on an equal plane with the other West India islands, which have negotiated reciprocity arrangements. They will ask more than this, for they want the same commercial privileges with respect to tobacco and appreciate the influences which have sugar that have been given to Porto Rico. The planters have just begun to cause those reciprocity arrangements to be hung up in the United States senate. They are seeking to have their own demands placed before congress and they are negotiating with the other West India propositions, they will be content to get their case where congress and the American people will understand that it must be considered during the nine months interval.

Whatever the political conditions may prove to be there is nothing in Cuba to justify the expectation that a period of industrial calm may be looked for as soon as congress adjourns. The mortgage extension decree which originally was made by General Weyer, and which was extended by General Brooks, under direction from Washington, expires on May 1. This decree was an absolute prohibition of foreclosure of mortgages. It was justified by the distress and bankruptcy which existed when American control was assumed, though it did work hardship on the creditors. The creditor class in Cuba had been in the habit of getting such enormous interest that it received no sympathy when this decree was enforced, but a point now has been reached where its rights have to be taken into account, and there is no probability that the mortgage decree will be extended beyond May 1.

Springfield, Mass., Jan. 28.—Harry W. McGregor, treasurer of the Palmer Savings bank, was today elected president of the city in place of Henry S. Hyde, resigned. The capital stock was reduced from $500,000 to $300,000, in accordance with recommendation of the directors and the national bank committee. Mr. Hyde, who has been president thirty-one years, also resigns as director. The directors voted to charge paper amounting to about $250,000 to the profit and loss account.

FARMERS WANT TROLLEY ROAD.

Newton, Pa., Jan. 28.—The Northampton Farmers' club has adopted a resolution petitioning the Union Traction company to build a road from Willow Grove to Heberts, Ivyland, Richboro, and thence to Newtown, and possibly Yardley. This is the first step in a plan on the part of farmers throughout this section of Bucks county to get into closer communication with Philadelphia and to secure suburban accommodations.

POUILLISTS UNDER THE BAN

Jeffries and Rublin Arrested Because Authorities Anticipate a Mill.

Columbus, O., Jan. 28.—Action was taken by Governor Nash today to prevent the Jeffries-Rublin fight at Cincinnati on February 15. The governor has been opposed to the fight being held in the state, and today he sent a letter to Attorney-General Steaks asking him to enjoin the principals from fighting on the ground they are about to perpetrate a public nuisance.

TOO LATE TO FILE.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 28.—Attorneys who were in consultation with Governor Nash and Attorney General Steaks at the state capital today, in reference to the proposed Jeffries-Rublin fight in this city, returned to Cincinnati tonight, but too late to file a petition for an injunction. A suit against the directors and members of the Sengerfest club will be brought in one of the local courts.

BOTH ARRESTED LATER.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 28.—Late tonight both Jeffries and Rublin were arrested on warrants sworn out by several persons interested in the coming fight, who acted at the instigation of the Sengerfest Athletic association, charging them with being in training for a prize fight, which is in violation of the law in this state. Both fighters were taken before Squire Roebeling who released both on a bond furnished by James Wilson. A test case is to be made of their arrest.

THE MAYBRICK CASE

A Probability That It Will Be Reopened

It is Said That the Prejudice of the Late Queen Was the Greatest Obstacle to a New Hearing of the Famous Matter.

London, Jan. 28.—One of the leading newspapers of London announces that the friends of Mrs. Maybrick, who for more than a decade have been tireless in their efforts to secure her release from prison, have reason to hope that the famous case may be reopened and the prisoner liberated shortly as one of the results of the queen's death. Among well informed persons it has always been the belief that it was the queen's prejudice and her severe notions regarding erring women, that stood in the way of Mrs. Maybrick's freedom more than any question of law or inclination on the part of the home secretary. On the other hand the mother and friends of the unfortunate woman see good grounds for hope in the generous impulses of the new king and the good will he has ever manifested towards Americans and American women in particular. In addition to these facts, it is well known that Joseph H. Choate, United States ambassador, has been doing his utmost to bring about a reopening of the case with such success that it is rather a matter of current rumor that the long hoped-for act of clemency will soon be forthcoming.

The history of Mrs. Maybrick's sad case is familiar to newspaper readers the world over. She is the daughter of William G. Chandler, a banker of Mobile, Ala., and was born in that city about forty years ago. When seventeen years of age she was met and courted by James Maybrick of Liverpool, then about forty years old. Maybrick had lived a fast life and was already declining in health. He was addicted to the frequent use of powerful stimulants and in time he became a confirmed opium eater. After their marriage, which took place at Norfolk, Va., they went to Liverpool to reside. April 27, 1889, Mr. Maybrick went to the Winal races and was caught in a severe rainstorm. Previous to this he had been ill from the use of arsenic and other poisons, and on coming home from the races he took to his bed. Physicians were at once called in by his wife, who attended him until he died two weeks after being taken sick. Mrs. Maybrick fell into a swoon immediately after her husband's death and was unconscious for four hours. May 14, while still in a semi-conscious condition, she was arrested, charged by the police, at the instigation of Edwin and Michael Maybrick, brothers of the deceased, and Alice Yapp and Rose Brierley, servants and enemies of Mrs. Maybrick, with having murdered her husband by administering doses of arsenic to him.

Search for arsenic was made and it was found in quantities sufficient to poison fifty persons. None of the poison, however, was found in her apartment or belongings. Mrs. Maybrick was taken from her bed, still unconscious, to Walton Jail, and June 6 the coroner's jury committed her to the assizes at Liverpool for trial on the charge of wilful murder. The trial began July 31, and lasted eight days, the last two of which were consumed by the summing of Justice Stephen. Four doctors who testified in the case as experts, said that Mrs. Maybrick's death was due to arsenical poisoning. Sir Charles Russell, in commenting on the charge of Justice Stephen to the jury, said: "He passionately invited the jury to find a verdict of guilty, taking two days to sum up the first day as a judge, and on the second day as a juror, and the third day as a juror, and the fourth day as a juror, and the fifth day as a juror, and the sixth day as a juror, and the seventh day as a juror, and
